

Wharepaku time

Out of nappies and onto the wharepaku.
Here are a few clues to help you know whether tamaiti might be getting ready.

- Their nappies are dry for longer.
- They start talking about mimi and tiko.
- They're interested in watching others go to the wharepaku.

Remember

- It's all about when they're ready, not us, and it can take time.
- Getting angry won't help – it might even scare them and make them want to hide accidents.
- There will be accidents, so stay positive – less stress, more progress!
