

Pēpi says

I'm showing my feelings very clearly now. When I'm happy, I like to awhi and kihi my whānau.

When I'm hōhā, I might cry or grizzle and use my body to show you I'm not happy. I might arch my back, hit, fling my arms and legs around and shake my head.

I am moving freely, maybe crawling, pulling myself to stand, walking by holding onto things – furniture and people. Or I might be walking without any help.

I like to get in and around things. Crawling under tables and chairs, getting into boxes or anywhere I see an opening.
